

We are Musicians Computing Summer 1

We listened to a piece of tribal music and began to plan which instruments we would like to use in our piece.

We discussed how we use digital technology to share and listen to music. Next, we began using Isle of Tune to create our own compositions.

We had a great time creating our own tunes. We found out that each element (house, tree etc.) made a different sound which we could change/tune.

We recorded our compositions!
Next, we listened to each other's tribal music!
We are musicians!

We rehearsed our composition and began to think about each layer we would need to record.

We started to learn about Audacity and the different features, such as copying and cutting, that we could use.
